by Mall, Prepaid,

The prospect of a fact in the Shemandah Valley seems to grow more imminent. The latest advices from Gen. Sheridan's position is to the effect that the opposite armines are facing each other, ready to mingthe in bloodystirife at any moment. Sheridan is away and cantious, and will not be forced into a fight until the feels sure of the result. Early has undoubtedly the superior force, and a cartain amount of strategy must be employed to make up the deficiency. Everything with Grant is quiet. He has god a full dog grip upon the rebels, and intends to worry them to death. The War Department have no late advices from Sherman, and the latest intelligence from him comes in the shape of remove which county hope they may privature.

Some wag at Detroit sent a telegram to London, C. W., on the line of the Great Western, that Gen. McClellan was on the nd train, and would reach that straightway determined to give the "grave digger" a warm and sympathetic reception. Loop before the train strived, not only the large platform in front of the station buildings, but the grounds adjacent, were filled with anxious spectaper, and arrangaments were made for a speech from G D. But all were doomed to disappointment. When the train strived the British sympathizers found that they had been imposed upon, and they were compelled to separate without seeing the man of their choice.

Mr. Colfax spoke at Laporte Tuesday to oncof the largest and most enthusiastic audiences ever gathered in that county. The vast crowds rumained standing during the entire speech of over three hours' duration without showing the least sign of weariness. The "cloquent Schuyler" surpassed himself, and made one of the ablest speeches of his life. At the close of his speech, the audience grew wild in its cheering, when some one suggested that it would be nothing less than a national calamity and an outrage on petrictism for the Ninth District to fail to return him who had given it an honored name throughout the nation.

This evening apeaches were delivered by Mr. Tuey of New York, and others. The same good feeling that distinguished the meeting in the afterneon distinguished this. General Ogiesby will speak at P.Jo tomorrow, and as your correspondent goes with him, and would like an hour of rest, he must close. The fact is, the "roosten" are crowing so lously that I cannot write more of I would be a supported to the control of the control of wighte men to sight this "d——d migger war," when it was intory and on the record that "Little Mac" had advised all and each of these measures long before they were ordered by Congress "ad the President." A few days of consultation, and a few days of reticate however, just for the sake of appearances, and its rerupits vanished like the mist of the morning, and the Democratic Bag now floats as proudly from the head of its columns as from the head of any other Copperhead Sawapaper.

The Union element, asthough comparatively weak in the city of Galema, is all powerful in the county of 4D Daviess. The latter is good for from five fee bight hundred mojority in ordinary comparigns, and it will reach a thomesand in this. The Union men of Galema have much to contend with, but they are active, energetic and hoperint, in this work they are ably assisted by that sterling Union sheet, the Galema Gastic. There is probable no paper outside of Chicago that has so wide a circulation, or a more ably ecitied. It poullahes a saily, tri weekly and weekly edition, and its circulation nust be in the neighborhood of four thousand. Its weekly edition alone is twenty-live hundred.

A description of Galema would be incomplete unless mention were made of its great stapic and its "great" river. The former is lead, and the laster is called "Fewer." In war times lead is trumps and the Galema niners have their hands full. How, when, and by whom these lead mines were discovered, i shall not tell, because—I don't snow but the curious chap who prospec et horomighty familier with its unyeen surface. There is a street at the toot of it, and predestrance can pass from one to the other if they can climba flight of five hundred wooden steps. The business part of the town is on the plates or the lead mines are on the top also, the sharts for the lead mines are on the top also.

on the plateou at the foot of this hill, but the residence portion is mostly upon the top. The shafts for the lead in fines are on the top also. I will not weary your readers with an account of my descensint the bowels of the estati 150,000 lect—on reflection, I think I will strike of three of the cyphers—nor of the wonderful sights I saw there. I will not describe the broad sheets of glittering mineral sending off may of light when illuminated by a tailow candle, like shining sifeer. I will so tell of the dusty forms of dirty miners pickims away at the strata, nor speak of the "specimens" I brought to the surface. If they wish to know just how the ore is taken from its cavernous recesses, and converted life to house their for rebels, put on a suit of old clothes, and "go down" as I did. Fever River in some seasons of the year is navigable for stemers. I recoilect six years ago, that i wen, from Galena to I unuque on a magnificent steamer by this route. The stream is now about twenty feet wide and six incues deep, just the thing for those steamers that are calculated to run where the ground is a little damp. At this season the Massiappi has "gone back" on-Galesa; there is not water enough in fewer fiver to swear by—just chough to swear st. On the whole the people can't bet as high on their river as they can on their lead. The latter is a full hand, while the former is not oven a "bob-tailed flush." As the Arkanss traveler said to his son when sent him out into the world to seek a fortne for bimself, "never bes high on a bob-tailed flush." tion, closely pursued, since which that have heard nothing from them. It the river continues bigh, Wheeler will scarcely effect his escape.

As most of the incidents of the raid have been telegraphed you, I shall not enlarge on so small an affair. The damage done is trifling; the permanent mischief secomplished—nothing.

During three days, all the clerks and other employes in the departments were kept neder arms, but they were not molested.

IN A QUANDARY.

"When intelligence resched the city that Atlants was taken, Col. Loomis, commanding the arrillery here, was in a quandary. He wanted to fire a bundred guas in honor of the event, but dare not, lest Romssean might hear the reports, and, not knowing the cause, leasing the the city was attacked. A courier was accordingly sent to the General, and It found him engaged in a host attraints. Ou receiving the intelligence he rode up to the Captain of a battery and told him to double shot his gune; to give the rebels one for threaselyee, and one of Atlanta. The General then sett back permission for the firing of the samte, and yesterday we had it.

I have given you a fair idea of Galena and its aurroundings—its people and its politice, and propose to say a word about the Union Mass Meeting held here to-day. A Buroling built ing is not just the most dearstale locality for a powder-house, but it is a capital place for a steam fire engine. It was the last consideration that induced the Union men of this city and county to arrange for a miss meeting in Galena. They wanted to beard the Hon in his den. They wanted to preach a little of the unadulterated gospel to the devil. They wanted to take patriotism to traitors. They wanted to confirm the weak and trembling, and to pour hot shot into the rebel powder house. So Geo. Octesby was invited to speak. Now, the General is plain, and says just what he means. He isys down his propositions, and deduces therefrom his conclusions in lang uage that indicates pretty clearly that he not only believes in them himself, but that he is determined he hearer shall believe in them hoo. The General is whole team, and a horse to let. He is a thirteen-inch Columbind, got up according to regulations. He calls treason, treason, and copperhead dismonion peace sneaks, he calls "d—d trait tors." The realisten rebels know the character of the General, and his energetic way of dealing with thus, of their kithers, and, it was said, were fully determined that he should not speak in spite of "all the copperheads this side of hall," they beemed to have reconsidered their determination. The only attempt at disturbances was the driving of a few copperhead firsh draymen ambiest the crowd, the wheels of whose drays chattering over the stony pavement of a patriot, a flow of the speaking.

The Union men quietly put them outside the ring. With this letter, assuming s Phillips, at his rooms in Egyptian Block. The number of men to be drafted in this place was not isrge, in all but eight men, calling for only sixteen names. The draft was conducted in an orderly manner, and witnessed by the Mayor—Baker—and a number of the prominent citizens and newspaper men. The following was the result of the drawing, Mayor Baker having been blind-toided to act as drawer. He was succeeded by Squire Bross:

Whreler advanced to the vicinity of the city last Thursday, but was lemediately mot and driven back, by Gen Rousseau. After remaining on the road, taking up the track, all day, he moved down, on Friday, to the vicinity of Franklin, with a view of destroying two or three trains there, and burning a bridge; but the place was saved by a prompt movement of a part of General Roussean's command.

The raiders then fied in the direction of West Harpeth, but finding that 5,000 men were coming up to confront them, from the South, they started in a south westerly direction, closely pursued, since which time I have heard nothing from them. If the river continues high, Wheeler will scarcely effect this escape.

circular of the State Department called Confederate States, which ed to "the Commissioner to the Commissioner to t self, which took place at Richmond, on the sight of the 17th of July last. From it may be, the lapse of time, or an infirm-memory. Mr. Replanus has failure hete some errors of fact in this circular, and with a view to aliminating the trait. I propose to notice very briefly a few of his statements.

The mean fact which the degical boys to establish, and which russ through his whole carretice, and to bring out which appears to have been als motive in probleming his circular, it this: That Colonel Jaques pears from Mr. Linceln, for the purpose of agreeing with the President (Davis) as to the proper mode of inaugurating a formal ageomation or peace, charged by Mr. Lincels with anthorny for stating his own views and receiving these of President Davis.

To prove this be quotes a note which Licut. Gen Grant wrote to Gen. Lee, a letter which Col. Jaques and I wrote to him, and, a let gitly conversation which, he states, occurred between blosed and ourselves on the occasion, when (in, my public report) I speak of our having found him—"a short, Iramp, oily fittle man in black—in the northwest room of the 'United States' Quatom Home."

The note of Gen. Grant. as Mr. Benjamin

The note of Gen. Grant. as Mr. Benjamin quotes it is as follows: Less Peterburg, Vinchus;
GENERAL: I would request that Col. Jas.
F. Juquesa, 75d Illinois infantry, and J. R.
Gilmore, Eq., be allowed to meet Col. Robb.

the two strikes as you may designate. The object of whis meeting is legitionate with the duties of Col. Ould, as Commissioner.

It has not been m my possession, nor have I seen it slocen m my possession, nor have I seen it slocen I delivered it to General Grant. How, then, could I have shown it to Mr. Benjamin! The said card was published in the Boston Treaseries of July 221, and was pretty extensively copied into the newspapers of the North. The "Secretary of State of the Confederate States" undoubtedly thus learned of its existence. He did not learned it from either Colonel Jaquess or myself, for neither of us allinded to it, in any way whatever.

and "the rest of countried," shad judges between Mr. Benjamin's statement and my own.

But, the Secretary's memory served him better in his navrative of our interview with Mr. Davis. It is, frue, he lets his desire to make us what we were not, color his report of this as wall as of the other interview, and he halfs to report or even to alime to a large part of the sounteration on that occasion, but the essential, and what seems so me most important portion of Mr. Davis's remarks, he gives in much stronger and more emphatic language than I have reported.

His easy that Mr. Davis's 'stated that if they (Jaquess and Gilmore) were themselves ouncequainted with the form of their own government as to make such proposations are proposations to leave the questions at issue between the North and the South to decision, by hellot, of the whole people.) Mr. Lincoln one fit to have known, when giving the his views, that it was out of the power of the Conjectrate government to act on the subject of the domestic lastitutions of the savely states, each State having exclusive jurisdiction on that point, still less to commute the decision of anoth a gestion to the vote of a foreign people; that the separation of the State was an accomplished fact; that he had no authority to receive proposals for negotiation except by virtue of his office as President of an independent Canfederacy, and on this basis alone must proposals be negotiation except by virtue of his office as President of an independent Camfedercy, and on this backs alone must proposals be made to him.

With the exception of the affinion to, Mr Lincoln (which Mr. Davis did not make) Lincoh (which Mr. Davis did not make) these remarks are, in subdame, correctly reported. The tone of discourt sy, however, which Mr. Benjamin makes pervade them, does injustice to Mr. Davis.

In regard to this whole matter I will add, that, with Mr. Benjamin actrousts before me, I have correinly re-read what I have witch in respect to the interview with him, that with Mr. Davis, and the attending circumstances, and that no part of my whole sarrative can be altered or amended, and have it consistent with the treats.

In my pushished report I have, as explicitly consistent with the train.

In my published report have, as explicitly as language cas do it disclaimed having in any way, act of for Mr. Lincoln, but I will repeat that neither Od Jaquess nor myself bed any emicial authority from the President; that we were not requested or authorised to express his views, opinious or desires to Mr. Davis or my one cless. I hat our 'mission to Richmond' was initiated and executed solely on our own, private account and responsibility, and that we have uniformly and aiways said so both inside and optside of the rebeilling. Mr. Lincoln gave me a pass. It reads as ollows:

Wild Ges. Grant allow J. R. Ollimore and fries to pass our lines with ordinary baggage, and a South.

And that is all that the President did, or wrote, or said, or caused to be done, or writer, or said in relation to this whole matter. So muce for Mr. Berjamin's circular. I will now add a few wrongs to relieve that gentleman from the flood of billingscate which is being sourced. gentleman from the flood of billingsquate which is being poured upon him by the Rich-mond editors, because, as they assert, "on the futroduction of a mancless Yankee friend, Nr. —, he (Mr. B) received two sides, and prowared them an interview with the Pressions."

sides, sad prowred them an interview with the President."

The Remains "greatly desires to know what Takkee has commissioned spice into our lines, assured them handsome treatment and access to the President," etc. Now, Mr. Assember, It wasn't a Yankee at all, nor was it a Mr. It was simply a Macam—a near relative of Mr. Davis, now residing at the North. Her letter was addressed to Mr. Davis, not to Mr. Benjamin, and it no dan't secured to me the courtery and kindress I recursed at the hands of the Rebel President. Furthermore, Mr. Benjamin did not vrocure us access to Mr. Davis. Our letter to the Scentary was requested by Judge Onld, as he expressed it, "as a matter of form." In this most agravatine disease its setten is post-tive and immediate, the communication was title waste. Dearthen, Dynamiczy and all other similar durange ments yield at one to its power. Thus is no huming a power of the communication of the and acrews one's difficulties in the manus of into great states, they excitement. But We have when it was written, and we know four days before we let Washington that Mr. Davis would receive it. The nacts about this are simply as follows: A prominent critism of the Confederacy, who desires peace even at the secretice of alwery, met Col. Januess at Federaburg, a slavers, met Col. Jaquess at Petersburg, a year ago. They have corresponded since, and when, in May lest, the Colonel. desided to visit the Coefederacy again, he wrote that gentleman, who at once consuminated the Colonel's intention to Mr. Davis, and asked if he would see him. Mr. Davis replied that he would, and surgested that the gentleman about make his way to Battmore and except. Col. Jacues through the lines. The gentle-he would, and suggested that the gentleman should make his way to Baltimore and escort Col. Jaquess through the lines. The gentleman met Col. Jaquess in Baltimore late in June, but the Celonel objected to entering rebeldom by the back door. The Southerner then as d, "Go to the front. Have a flag sect to Lee. Ask to meet Judge Oulds I will at once return to Rich mond and see that everything works moothly."

For that reason I scerred Mr. Lincoln's pass to the front. For that reason, ween General Grant said to me: "I don't believe the rebels will receive you. They have not asswered a flag for a month. However, I will school one. I shall have to address Gen. Loc. Shall I say you want to meet Judge Ould," Teal to him: "M' you please; and cappose you and, that if there appears to would like to have him refer our red Jeff. Davis." And for that reason Ger inserted in his note to Gen. Lee the dell. Davis. And for the reason terms in a received in his note to Gen. Lee the clune:

"If not consistent tor you to grant the request here asked, I would beg that this be referred to President Davis for his action;" on which clause Mr. Benjamin has attempted to build so much.

Thave been under no pledge of secrecy as to these facts, but there have been reasons why I have not heretofore thought best to disclose shem. Their present publication seems to be necessary to shield Mr. Benjamin (I), and to show conclusively that our "mission to Richmond" was our own private affair, and undertaken altogether on our own account and responsibility. Are you Distressed by all nourishing (2017 vate affair, and undertaken altogether on our own accounts and responsibility.

Since writing the above, I notice a paragraph, copied from the National Republican, in which the editor of that paper says: "We are authorized and requested" to state various things about "the Glinore Jaquess mission." All of these things I believe to be correct, except the statements that Gen, Lee gave us "a safe conduct to Richmond and return." and that "the President, after repeated collectations, consented to give numicate with Col. Jaquess at all I asked him but once for a pass, and promptly, and with no heistation, he gave it—as promptly, probably, as he would have given it to any one he was glad to be ris of. I do not mean the President shall be hanced for any of my rins, and I do not want to be hanged for any of bis, therefore I make this unimportant Jawas R Gilmons.

And fourtil, General Averill has had snother fight, and a pretty hard one, lasting about a da, in the Shenandosh Valley; in which be gave his enemy a good drubbing. Putting these fulngs together, they form a pretty good day's stock of mowe, and will be immensely comforting to the Copperheads, and will doubtless send up his stock in the market, and create a still demand for his picture.

WEAT THEY MIGHT HAVE DONE.

The Democratic party, throing their representatives at the late Cuicago Convession, missed a golden opportunity of getting late power and scolering the glory of closing the war. Suppose this curiar their season they had made as many and as strong speeches against the rebels as they did against the Government. Suppose they had been as realous and as exposed in their endeavors to put down the rebellion as they were to overturow the Union. Suppose they had expressed themselves ready now and all times to upholdened maintain the bonor of the flag instead of trailing it in the dust said to sering it to dishenor at the very instant of victory, and that they were bound to take Jeff. THE PARSIDENTIAL QUESTION—SHAIL WE HAVE AN INSURRECTION AT THE NORTH?

We have not the slightest doubt that there is a cautisal understanding between the Symposer, the Woods, Valleaudgham and the robit. This understanding is shown in the secretion platform adopted by the Obseque Convention, and to he seemington of the Prediction, of Observable is a practical seconomist—for Vice Prediction. We have now driven the rebels completely to the wall. General Grant has the best of them at Richmond, and choneral Generals as succeeded in cap uring Atlanta. This is not the time, then, that any reasonable man would be talking about "an immediate cassation of hostilities." We are in march of an armistica, like that between Prussia and Demark, where both sides held the; ground and are ready to begin the conditions of moment; but there is a vast dead of difference between such an armistica and the 1 momediate owner to not healthing which the Chicago platers of the results of the condition of healthing which the Chicago platers of the resulting which the Chicago platers of the condition of healthing which the Chicago platers of the condition of healthing which the Chicago platers of the condition of healthing which the Chicago platers of the condition of healthing which the Chicago platers of the condition of healthing which the Chicago platers.

Mr Forguson was accordingly sent for, and taid his desires before the Secretary, who, without combitting his master appointed a second interview, at which he stated he would communicate Lord Paimerstan's answer. The lime came, and with it the decision of the British Cabinet. They told Mr F, that Mr. Litcole had just issued a preliminary emencipation proclamation: that the war on the part of the North was for anti-slavery on the part of the Seuth for slavery; and therefore England could not interfere for the Confederates, as it would place England in a Like stiffude, and would create such dissatisation among the people, that the Ministry could not retain
